EVA CLAIBORNE
Master Esthetician

Schooled in the renowned Hungarian tradition of effective skincare therapy, Eva Claiborne is an innovative and experienced Master Esthetician and Perioperative Aesthetic Specialist with over forty years of experience. Eva provides the highest level of skincare and spa services, designed to achieve and maintain healthy beautiful skin from head to toe. In addition to her extensive European and American training, Eva has developed her own approach to skincare and launched a comprehensive line of pre- and post-operative products for plastic surgery patients — TITOK naturals®. TITOK naturals® patent pending Pre & Post Operative Wellness Treatments were formulated in conjunction with top dermatologists and plastic surgeons to address all patient needs. The line is a result of decades of experience on a global scale that embodies Eva's unique philosophy — people need to be more gentle with their skin. Instead of stripping the skin with harsh products, a regimen of non-abrasive products and custom treatments will bring overall well-being, both before and after cosmetic procedures and surgery. The treatments are beneficial for both elective and required surgeries.

Qs

What sets you apart from your competition?
I am the only Master Esthetician in Marin County who blends traditional Hungarian techniques with the most modern skincare technologies available. Beyond skincare, I also have a degree in Reiki healing and am certificated in manual lymphatic drainage and foot reflexology.

Is there something about your circumstance/upbringing that prepared you or set you up for success?
I moved to the United States from Hungary in 1989 to continue my education and began to travel around the world to uncover new skin care techniques. I learned advanced facial and body treatments at the Germaine de Capuccini skincare company in Spain, clinical aromatherapy with Eve Taylor, and nutrition with Patrick Halford — both in London. I also earned a computer ultrasonic treatment license in Budapest.

What are your thoughts on growing and expanding your business?
I worked closely with surgeons, dermatologists, psychologists and relied on my experience with hundreds of grateful patients to develop this new, comprehensive line of plant-based, organic products that promote healing, relieve pain and minimize swelling. It's been very rewarding.
